The latter is a brother-in-law of the late Walter Drury, who used to live on the John Frey farm. It takes only a few months of being a third of a century since we first heard Rev Joel A Smith pouring forth his eloquent sermons and it is a remarkable fact that on down through the long years since then his powerful voice has been heard in many states of this nation and in foreign lands beyond the sea. A quarter of a century is a long time for a man to stand in battle array and fight as a valiant soldier along the firing line in this mighty conflict of right against wrong. Yes, since those distant days when we first knew him in Dakota City, Neb, he has been called back time and again to bury departed friends and to marry the children of the good people of Dakota county. He has a record of noble work performed and a reward surely awaits him over on the other shore.

Arkansas City Daily Traveler, 26th: Richard L Hughes, a young man who was a machinist apprentice at the Santa Fe shops here, lost his life in the waters of the Arkansas river late yesterday afternoon, while he, with several others, were taking a swim after working hours in the sand pit adjoining the river. His body was not recovered until between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning, although a large crowd of his friends dragged the river where the body went down to its watery grave all night long. The body was taken to the Oldroyd undertaking parlors when recovered this morning. Mr Hughes was the son of Mrs Elsie Welch, of the Syndicate block. Mrs Welch is a widow and Richard was her chief support, although she has been employed at the Lee Brown candy kitchen as cook for some time past. The mother was prostrated with grief last night when the news of the ending of her boy was conveyed to her over the telephone. This mother and son were more than ordinarily devoted to each other, it is said, and Mrs Welch is greatly grieved on account of the sad death of the young man, upon whom she depended for a livelyhood. Mr Hughes was a member in good standing of the Woodmen of the World lodge of this city, in which he carried insurance. He was a fine young man, devoted to his mother, a member of the young man's bible class of the U B Sunday school, of which class he was president, and he was captain of the U B baseball team of the city Sunday school league. He was employed as an apprentice at the shops and was about to complete his four years course in that line of work, when death snatched him from his companions and loved ones. His companions speak in the highest terms of his manliness and all of them thought the world of this young man. His employer, B A Eldridge, who is general foreman of Santa Fe shops, speaks very highly of his work and Mr Eldridge was among the Santa Fe employees who remained up all night and assisted in the work of attempting to secure the body. He is an official who is not afraid of work or long hours. Funeral services for Mr Hughes will be held tomorrow afternoon at the United Brethren church at 2:30 o'clock. Members of the W O Lodge will attend in a body. The deceased was 23 years of age. Besides the mother, he leaves three sisters, one of whom is married. His insurance in the W O W amounts to $1,000 made payable to his mother. The circumstances in connection with the drowning of Mr Hughes are as follows: He, in company with Milan Burch, Ernest Wylie, Geo Jenkins and Willard Beguin, all of whom are employed at the shops, quit work at 6 o'clock and went to the river south of the yards, to the place where the Allen sand plant is located. Mr Hughes was the first one to take a plunge and he immediately got into the hole where the big shovel had left a place about 80 feet deep. It is said that he could not swim and as he went down Milan Burch jumped in to assist him. Burch got to the drowning man and went down also, but his efforts in drawing Hughes up were fruitless and Burch had to be pulled out by his companions. Crowds of people rushed to the scene as soon as the alarm was given and an all night search for the body was kept up. The water was dugged with the grab hooks, rakes and other tools, and one charge of dynamite was put off in the water. As the body was nude the hooks could not catch, but early this morning Anos Leech, night machinist, who was one of the searching party, found the body and pulled it out of the water. It was feared in the night, that the sand would cover the body and it would never be recovered. The body was found in about 10 feet of water, and about 10 feet from the east bank of the sand pit.

Health a Factor in Success.

The largest factor contributing to a man's success is undoubtedly health. It has been observed that a man is seldom sick when his bowels are regular; it is never well when they are constipated. For constipation you will find nothing quite so good as Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. They are for sale by all dealers.—Adv.

Personal Modesty vs. Business Publicity

An anonymous friend writes that the public is not interested in knowing "The Man Behind" who runs a bank.

Very True—But Our Depositors Are, as in anything, that makes for absolute safety for them.

All the Wealth of Rockefeller, Morgan and Carnegie combined could not bring a tinge of pride or vanity, make us feel even a tiny mote better than the humblest toiler of the city, if he lived aright. Nor could the loss of the little owned make anyone else better—unless they lived a better life—did more for humanity.

Possibly a Bit Proud of a lifetime of hard, pleasant labor, of the millions of dollars deposited with us, and paid on demand, without a single exception year, of no poor people oppressed, no farms or homes taken on mortgages, no penny or foot of land but came honestly—honestly.

Ask the One who Knows—If the above be true. Personally clothed in Modesty—yet believing in The Mid-West Bank—knowing its goodness and striving to spread the glad tidings. (Sever the "big head", in a 1900 years).

The Man Who Spends a Lifetime in Honest Toil—striving to be of some little use to the world and then pledges his every dollar—his every acre of land as a guarantee of deposits made with him—must believe in himself and be truly simply that Mid-West depositors may sleep well at night. (And they do.)

Difficult to Please All—yet the thirteenth month after starting finds eighteen pages of 74 names each for checking accounts—with about 100 Savings books out besides—And coming faster than ever now.

Thankful—That's All, to those who have made this possible. To the employees—whose hearts and hands and souls are deep in the work. To the friends who not alone come—but also others, making an endless chain of pleased patrons.

This Bank Would Be Absolutely Safe—Without a Dollar Behind It—We Firmly Believe. It loans money only on secured notes, and seasoned experience guides each detail. Every dollar deposited—will always be found here—or a good note in its place.

4% Certificates. 6 and 7% Investments. Stramship Tickets. Insurance. Good Banking.
